How do you Remove Distance from Distance Learning?

It's been said that new technologies alter the relationship between students and educators. That the mediating role of higher education – selecting and brokering access to learning materials and ideas – is changing with the rise of the Internet and the growing influence of social media.

We couldn't agree more.

iQ Technologies is a social media platform company that provides schools around the world with the most advanced social media tools and services to enhance learning and student engagement. We extend education beyond the confines of “the classroom” to encompass the broader aspects of academic collaboration and success.

Our solution removes the “distance” from distance learning by leveraging the power of social media frameworks, thereby allowing students, teachers and staff to communicate and collaborate in a manner never before possible.

Our flexible Social-as-a-Service platform enables educational institutions to easily and cost-effectively own their own branded social network. This inclusive and collaborative approach to student / faculty interaction drives increased enrollment and engagement among students, while lowering your operational costs through the use of our managed service and platform.
